Wilful can get off to winning start at Carlisle

By Ashley Iveson, Press Association

Wilful can make a successful start to his season in a fascinating renewal of the Panoramic Hurdle at Carlisle. With conditions at Kempton unsuitably dry, this £50,000 contest has been moved for this season and racegoers in Cumbria are in for a treat, with several big names making the long trip north.

The Paul Nicholls-trained Rubaud has won this Listed prize in each of the past three years at its usual home and bids for the four-timer, while Dan Skelton is represented by Grade One-winning chaser Mirabad.

Further strength in depth is added by James Owen's high-class dual-purpose performer Burdett Road and Jeremy Scott's 2025 Champion Hurdle heroine Golden Ace, who with her mares' allowance sets the standard on ratings, but does tend to improve for her first run of the season and is probably better over further these days.

But preference is for Wilful, who won a valuable handicap at Ascot and the County Hurdle at the Cheltenham Festival last term for Jonjo and AJ O'Neill and rounded off his campaign with a third-placed finish behind superstar mare Lossiemouth and Golden Ace in the Champion Hurdle at Punchestown.

As is the case with most of his rivals his fitness has to be taken on trust, but the fact the O'Neill string has been among the winners in recent weeks bodes well. Push The Limit makes his jumping debut for the Skelton team in the Class Of '63: 63 Years On Novices' Hurdle.

The four-year-old was a quality operator on the Flat for Ralph Beckett, winning at Glorious Goodwood last year and finishing a close second to the now 114-rated Tenability at Ascot. Push The Limit himself is rated 103 on the level and if he can translate that to the National Hunt game on his return from a year off, the 580,000 guineas purchase should be very hard to beat.

Fairy Park looks the class act on show in the Carway Mares' Novices' Hurdle at Ffos Las. The point-to-point winner showed quality form in bumpers last term for Joe Tizzard, finishing second to Princess Day on her rules debut at Newbury and then an excellent third in the Grade Two mares' bumper at Aintree's Grand National meeting.

If she is to claim similar heights over obstacles, connections will be hoping she can get off to a winning start in a race of this nature. Rebecca Curtis has several strong chances on the card including Boultydoolin, who shoulders top-weight in the bettingsites.co.uk Fast Paying Bookmakers Novices' Limited Handicap Chase.

The six-year-old was thoroughly impressive in a Chepstow maiden hurdle when last seen and always looked likely to make up into a better horse over fences. A drop back in trip might help Brighton Beach get back on the winning trail at Newmarket.

The daughter of Palace Pier broke her duck over a mile at Thirsk in early August and then placed a creditable third over a mile and a quarter at Goodwood. A stiffer 10 furlongs looked to catch her out when fourth at Sandown last time, so the return to a mile for the CopyBet Support Safer Gambling Fillies' Handicap looks a good move off a competitive mark of 73.
