FREE WIND HOPING TO BREEZE TO LILLIE LANGTRY SUCCESS

By Ashley Iveson, PA

Free Wind can right last year's wrong in the Qatar Lillie Langtry Stakes at Goodwood. John and Thady Gosden's mare is the highest-rated runner in the field with an official mark of 114 and notably shed her maiden tag with a nine-length victory at this track three years ago. She has gone on to win a Group Three and multiple Group Twos since then, and was beaten just a head by Warm Heart in the Group One Yorkshire Oaks last summer. The six-year-old was clear second best in her bid for back-to-back wins in York's Middleton Stakes in May, but the winner Bluestocking has done the form no harm since, following up in the Pretty Polly Stakes in Ireland before filling the runner-up spot in the King George at Ascot last weekend. Free Wind disappointed in the Lillie Langtry last season, but is easily forgiven that below-par effort given the ground turned heavy, and provided there is not a deluge of rain ahead of the weekend she can settle that particular score on the final day of the Qatar Festival. Al Aasy will aim to reverse the form with Phantom Flight in a hotly-contested Coral Glorious Stakes that gets the card under way. The pair enjoyed a fascinating tussle over 10 furlongs in the Steventon Stakes at Newbury two weeks ago, where William Haggas' seven-year-old narrowly went down by a length to George Scott's younger rival who was making his stable debut for his new trainer. Al Aasy took a while to find his stride on his first start for 287 days and should be all the better for the seasonal reappearance run as he returns to a mile and a half on the Sussex Downs. The son of Sea The Stars can admittedly be a touch frustrating, but even so he has four Group Three triumphs to his name and there is no doubting his talent when it goes right. Lethal Levi gets the vote in a typically wide-open renewal of the Coral Stewards' Cup. Karl Burke's sprinter has proved competitive in a whole host of lucrative sprint handicaps over the past three seasons, notably notching back-to-back wins at Newmarket in the summer of 2022. The five-year-old was winless last season, but appears to have been reinvigorated by the application of blinkers this term, with victory at Newbury in May followed by fine efforts in defeat in the Wokingham at Royal Ascot and Newmarket's Bunbury Cup, finishing fourth and second respectively. On both occasions Lethal Levi was ridden aggressively before being mowed down late, so in theory Goodwood's fast six furlongs should give him the opportunity to last home. It is a small worry that he disappointed on his only previous visit to the Sussex Downs, but that was off the back of a particularly busy spell and at rewarding odds it is worth taking a chance. Newmarket punters are advised to put their faith in Ardeur in the British Stallion Studs & Tony Morris EBF Fillies' Nursery Handicap. Ralph Beckett's Kameko filly finished fourth on debut in a race that could hardly have worked out better, with the winner Arabie now a dual Group-race winner, the second scoring next time and the third-placed Simmering going on to finish second at Royal Ascot before landing the Princess Margaret Stakes. Ardeur herself bolted up on her next appearance at Pontefract before disappointing as an odds-on favourite at the same venue a month ago. Moving into handicap company for the first time off a mark of 83, Ardeur is capable of better. Desert Flower is difficult to oppose in the Turners EBF Fillies' Novice Stakes. Charlie Appleby's youngster bolted up here on debut three weeks ago and she is expected to double her tally before stepping up in grade.
