MORRIS DANCER CAN DELIGHT AT SALISBURY

By Anita Chambers, PA

Morris Dancer was only just denied at Goodwood but compensation awaits in the British Stallion Studs EBF Stonehenge Stakes at Salisbury. Seventh to Chesham winner Humidity on his racecourse bow, Morris Dancer then hit the target in a Haydock novice, prompting John and Thady Gosden to make the leap to Group Two level in the Vintage Stakes. Morris Dancer was sent off a 22-1 shot and after racing at the back of the field, he made significant progress in the final furlong to be beaten just a short head by the July Stakes hero Zavateri. That was Morris Dancer's first run since May so he could certainly sharpen up for the experience, while the way he stayed on at Goodwood combined with his pedigree suggests this mile trip should be right up his street, particularly dropped to this Listed grade. Azaniya has her first attempt at that level in the British Stallion Studs EBF Upavon Fillies' Stakes after winning each of her two starts this term. She showed a glimmer of ability in two juvenile starts but has come of age this term, winning a Newmarket novice by seven and a half lengths on her seasonal bow before following up in a Windsor handicap subsequently. Azaniya triumphed off a mark of 84 that day and while a subsequent 6lb rise leaves her a bit short of some rivals on the ratings, her three-year-old allowance puts her right back in the mix and while Revoir sets the standard, this 10-furlong trip might not be ideal for that one. It is ladies' day at Beverley and Triggerman can send racegoers home happy with a win in the Jill Willows Handicap. The four-year-old has yet to strike gold in five starts so far this term but came within a short head of victory over this extended seven-furlong trip last time. He looked set to oblige but idled a bit right at the finish in a first-time visor - a move which cost him as he was grabbed on the line. Julie Camacho retains the headgear in this event, but connections should be wiser this time. Loch Leven can return to winning form back on familiar ground in Kempton's Unibet Zero% Mission Handicap. Her best efforts have come at the Sunbury venue, finishing a narrow second in a novice contest in July last year before adding a fourth place and a win subsequently. Two runs at Southwell this year have resulted in mixed results, with a fair second on her handicap debut followed by a much less promising effort last time. She is still worth another chance back on Polytrack though. Lunanova is on a roll and can defy a 6lb penalty in the Alison Thorpe Racing Handicap at Ffos Las. Successful for Amanda Perrett on her penultimate start, she then made a winning debut for Dr Richard Newland and Jamie Insole at Brighton last week.
