Crystal looks clear pick at Huntingdon

By Chris Phillips, Press Association

Crystal Island can vindicate the decision of his connections to swerve an engagement at Ascot on Friday by winning the Conferences At Huntingdon "Chasing Excellence" Beginners' Chase at Huntingdon. Nicky Henderson preferred to wait before unleashing the son of Crystal Ocean after deeming the ground too quick for the five-year-old in Berkshire. He won his only point-to-point with plenty in hand before switching to Henderson and launching a hurdling campaign in December last year, running out a four-length victor over Off The Jury on his debut at Ascot. The form of that race has stacked up nicely with Mickey Bowen's runner-up going on to win his last three races, including on his seasonal reappearance earlier this month when winning handily at Aintree. Crystal Island again won well on his final start over hurdles at Ffos Las in April and despite stablemate Reckless Spending the likely biggest danger, he should make an impact on his chasing debut. Chico Magnifica can follow up his Uttoxeter win in the Christmas Parties At Huntingdon Racecourse Handicap Hurdle. The Olly Murphy-trained four-year-old struck over hurdles at the seventh time of asking in Staffordshire, doing his best work at the business end of the race as he galloped clear to win by three and a quarter lengths. He showed signs of a turn of foot on the Flat for Karl Burke and can again use that to his advantage to return to the winner's enclosure. Count Of Vendome can take a step forward from his debut over fences in the Bangor-On-Dee "Chasing Excellence" Beginners' Chase. The six-year-old never finished outside of the first two in five starts last season, winning three of them. He was prominent throughout on his debut over the larger obstacles at Uttoxeter before getting outpaced by the winner, Hold The Serve. He will relish the step up in trip and can hit the mark for Donald McCain. Dig Deep can make his handicap debut a winning one in the Bangor-On-Dee Memberships Now On Sale Novices' Handicap Chase. He won nicely when last seen over hurdles at Uttoxeter in March and he can make an immediate impact on his return from a 254-day break on ground he will relish. Grande

J will make his first start under rules in the Outerspace Group "National Hunt" Maiden Hurdle. Rebecca Curtis has an impressive record in north Wales, running at 23 per cent strike-rate and she can enhance that with the Jet Away gelding, who hosed up by 16 lengths in his only point-to-point. Faithful showed plenty of promise on debut at Yarmouth and can put it all together in the AWC Season 14 Has Begun Fillies' Novice Stakes at Newcastle. The Baaeed filly was very green but gradually learned her job and ran on well to finish third, just one and a half lengths in arrears, but that experience can be vital to her breaking her maiden. Koko Blue has a hat-trick in her sights in the Midnite A Next Generation Betting App Apprentice Handicap. The Kameko filly struck at the 15th time of asking here in September, taking over in the final furlong and galloping on to win by the best part of five lengths. She followed that up last up last month and stepping up in grade and carrying an extra 14lb for those two victories, she can continue her progression at Gosforth Park. Luke Morris is a bit of a Wolverhampton specialist and can enjoy more success aboard James Owen's Eighty Eight in the Midnight A Next Generation Betting App Handicap. The 38-year-old is closing in on 550 winners at Dunstall Park and the Dragon Pulse gelding can follow up a win at Chelmsford earlier this month despite a 5lb rise in the weights.
