Raaheeb to make winning return in

Winter Hill

By Adam Morgan, Press Association

With the rains beginning to set in, the exciting Raaheeb could prove the star of the show at Windsor, when he bids to get back on track in the Weatherbys Global Stallions App Winter Hill Stakes. Trained by Owen Burrows, the Shadwell owned son of Sea The Stars is not only a brother to the illustrious Baheed but also another Group One star in Hukum, who the Lambourn handler guided to both Coronation Cup and King George VI And Queen Elizabeth Stakes glory. Raaheeb looked well capable of continuing the family's rich history when making a winning debut at Ascot last autumn and those vibes only increased when announcing himself as a Classic contender with an impressive winning return at Sandown in April. Having come out of that race stiff he would subsequently miss both the Derby and Royal Ascot as connections remained patient and that considered approach has been taken again following his encouraging fourth in the Irish Derby in July on just his third career start. He now drops back to Group Three company where he appears to not only set a clear form standard but is also the highest-rated horse in the race and given any ease under foot will only help this inexperienced yet talented colt, he is tough to oppose attempting to tee-up bigger days to come. Another well-related runner on the card looking to make the next step in her career is John and Thady Gosden's Without Prejudice, who will attempt to follow up a stylish debut at Newmarket in the G J Colario Diamond Fillies' Novice Stakes. The daughter of Starman is a half-sister of the training team's Emily Upjohn, who carried the colours of owner Lord Lloyd Webber to notable success during her time in training. It was hard not to be impressed by Without Prejudice's first outing on the July course and the fact she was declared to run in Listed company at York during the Ebor Festival suggests connections are not wanting to hang about enhancing her CV. This will be much simpler than that scheduled assignment and nothing but a victory will be expected. Roxa Love saw the form of her Brighton win over Henley On Thames boosted at York recently and George Boughey's youngster sets the standard in the Free Bets On attheraces.com EBF Fillies' Novice Stakes at Wolverhampton. Boughey could also be on the scoresheet with the Niarchos-owned Brunhilde as he enters the handicap ranks off what looks a workable figure following a first win at Lingfield last time. Billy Loughnane is in the saddle once again for the Follow @attheraces On Instagram Handicap and he could relish the step up in distance in this staying event. It could prove a profitable evening for Loughnane as he continues his charge towards a first jockeys' title, and he is worth following again aboard Marco Botti's Pon Pon Dalia in the Free Bets On attheraces.com Restricted Maiden Stakes. Having made a bold bid from the front last time she was reeled in late over seven furlongs, having held a clear advantage entering the closing stages. She now drops back in trip and if employing similar tactics, may not be for catching this time. Moment Of Light more than paid his way on the Flat for James Owen and is an interesting recruit to hurdling having switched to Dan Skelton to begin his new discipline in the Sky Sports Racing Juvenile Hurdle at Newton Abbot. Similar sentiments apply to Explode in the following Race Against Waste Maiden Hurdle, with Faye Bramley's charge having won cosily at Newbury off a mark of 85 before running at York's big summer meeting off 90. He now returns to timber both match-fit and with previous hurdling experience to his name. There is also jumping north of the border at Perth, where regular visitor from Ireland Gordon Elliott will be feared as easy Cork scorer Cosmos d'Ainay looks to follow up in the Auto Services Volkswagen Commercial Aftersales Novices' Hurdle.
