FOOD FOR THOUGHT FOR BEVERLEY BACKERS

By Chris Phillips,
Press Association Sport

Beverley plays host to an interesting Clearanswer Call Centres Maiden Fillies' Stakes where royal runner Food For Thought makes most appeal. The daughter of Dubawi was not beaten far when second to Sacred Ground at Yarmouth last season and the winner has gone on to be placed in two Newmarket Listed contests since. The form reads well and this filly should be able to progress in her three-year-old season, making a winning start here. Beerwah goes in search of a quickfire double in the Annie Oxtoby Memorial Handicap. Already a course and distance winner on the Westwood, the Mehmas gelding can maintain his early season form with another trip to the Beverley winner's enclosure. John and Sean Quinn's four-year-old was only beaten a neck on his seasonal debut at Doncaster and followed that up with a length-and-a-quarter victory at Redcar just six days later. The handicapper has raised him 5lb after that Redcar triumph and that can be taken in stride despite the slight uptick in grade. Donna Nook is another who has caught the eye in the early part of the season and a repeat in on the cards in the Napoleons Casino And Restaurant Hull Handicap. Placed efforts on the all-weather at Wolverhampton and Southwell preceded a switch to the turf at Ayr and the daughter of Bated Breath was only beaten a neck by Starliner. Off the same mark of 70, she can take advantage of early-season fitness to win for the first time for David O'Meara at the 15th time of asking. Seed Ya Later's promising start to her career can advance in similar fashion at attheraces.com/ marketmovers EBF Restricted Novice Stakes at Bath. Jack Channon's filly only went down by a neck here on her racecourse debut last month and she then got the better of Donna Rumma by a short head in a Musselburgh maiden. Galaxy Wonder is seeking a hat-trick in the Free Tips Daily On attheraces.com Handicap. Kept busy since the turn of the year the Camelot gelding followed placed efforts at Kempton, Wolverhampton and Lingfield with victory on his return to Dunstall Park when dropped back to a mile and half a furlong. He quickly followed that up with a taking victory at Bath over a mile and going back up to a mile and a quarter should not create any issues despite an 11lb rise by the handicapper since the Wolverhampton victory. Neil King's Arc Zoosve is the pick to complete a four-timer in the Free Tips Daily On attheraces.com Apprentice Handicap at Lingfield. Wins at Southwell, Lingfield and Goodwood have seen him go up 12lb in the ratings but his win at Lingfield last month has since been franked with the second that day, Shrimp Shady, going on to win the Chester Plate.
