TIME FOR TEMPS TO SHINE

By Adam Morgan, PA

Sandown is serving up a festive treat and Willie Mullins can remind Dan Skelton that he will not have it all his own way in this season when Il Etait Temps bids for Betfair Tingle Creek Chase honours. The master of Closutton won this contest in 2016 with the magnificent Un De Sceaux, who returned to Esher to finish second in 2018 and 2019, and while Chacun Pour Soi and Gentleman De Mee have both failed to land a blow since, the Irish handler could have the perfect candidate to get his hands on the prize once again. A three-time Grade One winner as a novice chaser, injury sidelined Il Etait Temps for the majority of last term before he made a glorious return to add to his haul as part of Mullins' title-chasing squad at this venue on the final day of last season. On that occasion he handed an emphatic five-and-a-half-length beating to Jonbon at a track Nicky Henderson's chaser has called his home patch in recent years and after that one was also beaten by L'Eau Du Sud in his Shloer Chase comeback, there no evidence to suggest the form will be reversed here. The progressive L'Eau Du Sud could represent a real danger for the fully-firing Skelton team, as he struck Grade One gold as a novice on this card last year. However, there is also plenty of upside to Il Etait Temps and after a facile victory in the Clonmel Oil Chase, he could announce himself as a major player on the two-mile scene. Henderson can gain a measure of compensation as his Lulamba is the one to beat in the Betfair Henry VIII Novices' Chase. Only a whisker away from Triumph Hurdle glory in the spring, he gained top-level revenge over Poniros at Punchestown and then was foot-perfect on his eagerly-awaited fencing bow at Exeter. Already high-up in the betting for the Arkle, he could add his name to a roll of honour that also includes the likes of Seven Barrow runners Jonbon and Altior. There could also be a touch of class on display in the opening Betfair Exchange Claremont Novices' Hurdle as Sober Glory can enhance his unbeaten record. Philip Hobbs and Johnson White have a real strength in depth in this division this term but there is every chance this one could be the best of the bunch judged on his smart bumper form and the impressive nature of his Chepstow hurdling debut. The main event at Aintree is the William Hill Half A Mill Becher Handicap Chase where it might be worth taking a chance on Ben Pauling's Twig at a likely double-figure price. The 10-year-old gave Beau Morgan a fine spin over the famous fences in the Grand National earlier in the year and this event over a shorter trip should be much more to Twig's liking than the stamina-sapping spring feature. Pauling has his team in rude health at present and Twig arrives on the back of a game victory at Sandown where he advertised all his old enthusiasm for a battle. Providing not too much rain gets into the ground, he is more than capable of a surprise. Paul Nicholls has won the Listed William Hill Best Odds Guaranteed Wirral Juvenile Hurdle four times in the last 10 years and can enhance that stellar record with easy Ludlow scorer Treasure Planet. Olly Murphy is another handler to keep onside at Aintree and having won the New William Hill Racing Bet Builder Handicap Hurdle twice since 2019, his Chepstow Silver Trophy winner Rambo T can defy a 6lb rise to strike again.
