SAM THE SOLUTION TO PETERBOROUGH PUZZLE

By Ashley Iveson, Press Association

Saint Sam can provide Willie Mullins with a first victory in the Sky Bet Peterborough Chase at Huntingdon. With Dan Skelton firing in big-race winners most weekends, Mullins appears to have a real fight on his hands to successfully defend his British trainers' championship this season and he will be hoping he can begin to make inroads this weekend. Saint Sam is ultra-consistent, with his last seven starts yielding three victories and four runner-up finishes and he was last seen pushing the high-class Found A Fifty close in a Grade Two at Fairyhouse on Easter Monday. He only has 3lb to find with hot favourite Djelo, who is bidding for back-to-back Peterborough Chase triumphs after winning the Charlie Hall Chase at Wetherby, but it is not too difficult to pick holes in that form given the second home, Pic d'Orhy, has since disappointed at his beloved Ascot. Saint Sam's fitness has to be taken on trust, but Mullins would surely not be sending him across the Irish Sea for a race such as this without ensuring he was ready enough to do himself justice. The Closutton handler fires a twin assault at the concluding Sky Bet, For The Fans Henrietta Knight Mares' Open National Hunt Flat Race and with son Patrick Mullins in the saddle, preference is for Wonderful Everyday. The four-year-old beat the boys when making a winning debut in the valuable Goffs Defender Bumper at the Punchestown Festival in the spring and is well worth a shot at this Listed prize. Ambiente Friendly is backed to open his account over obstacles at the second attempt in the Sky Bet Super Sub Novices' Hurdle. Runner-up to City Of Troy in last year's Derby before finishing third as favourite for the Irish equivalent, the four-year-old subsequently lost his way on the Flat and it was hoped a change of discipline might reignite the fire. There was certainly no lack of enthusiasm in his initial effort at Cheltenham last month, with the son of Gleneagles racing keenly on the lead at Cheltenham before faltering into fourth in the rain-softened ground. There were enough positives in that performance to suggest he is capable of winning at least a small races over hurdles and this flatter track and slightly less demanding underfoot conditions are both in his favour. Champion jockey Sean Bowen is clearly a positive jockey booking for Al Kalila in the Paxtons For Kverneland Parts And Genuine Spares Novices' Limited Handicap Chase at Kelso. A decent hurdler, Stuart Crawford's charge did well to finish second on his chasing debut at this track a month ago considering he made a shuddering error on the way round. He has been raised 2lb for that promising effort but should go close with a clear round nonetheless. De Legislator gets the nod in the Bruce Farms Scottish Borders National Handicap Chase. The eight-year-old won over hurdles at this venue in his younger days and was last seen making it two victories from three starts over fences at Ayr. He was all out to win that day over three miles and while on the face of it a 6lb hike looks high enough, he is still lightly raced after just six starts under rules and this step up to four miles promises to see him in a better light. Hombre De Guerra is of definite interest in the #75,000 Richard Landale Handicap Chase. The Nick Alexander-trained seven-year-old chased home the top-class Caldwell Potter on his first start of last season at Carlisle and rounded off his campaign with successive novice handicap chase wins at Ayr. He was outclassed when badly wrong at the weights with each of his rivals on his return to action in a graduation chase at Carlisle four weeks ago, but that run should leave him spot-on for his return to handicap company.
