SIOG GEAL LOOKS GOOD FOR FERGAL

O'BRIEN AT CHEPSTOW

By Molly Hunter, Press Association

Siog Geal can strike at Chepstow to take the Georgebakerracing.com - Have Horse Will Travel Mares' Handicap Hurdle for Fergal O'Brien. The seven-year-old has never been far from the action in nine starts under rules, winning twice and never failing to finish in the money. This season she has been placed in two competitive and valuable handicaps when third and then second at Carlisle and Cheltenham respectively. Her most recent run involved a trip across the Irish Sea to Leopardstown in February, where she lined up as an 11-1 shot in the Paddy And Maureen Mullins Mares Handicap Hurdle. There she encountered heavy ground for the first time and still ran with credit, finishing fifth of 18 when close up in the chasing group behind the first two horses home. She now returns to home turf and will be ridden by O'Brien's daughter

Fern, who claims a valuable 5lb, with better ground than she encountered in Ireland another plus. On the same card Eremenko can win the Beware The Brides Of March Mares' Maiden Hurdle for Nicky Henderson and James Bowen. A bumper winner and a half-sister to Doddiethegreat, owned also by Kenny Alexander and also trained by Henderson, the five-year-old finished a respectable fourth on her hurdling debut at Taunton in January. She makes her second start over obstacles at Chepstow, with her prior run boosted by the subsequent success of the second-placed Beauty In The Park back at the same track. At Market Rasen it is Lucy Wadham's Cotton Socks who can announce himself in the Copybet Supporting UK Horse Racing EBF Junior 'National Hunt' Hurdle. The Passing Glance gelding, who is out of a five-time winner in Giving Back, acquitted himself well in two bumpers late last year. His hurdling debut seems to have been somewhat delayed as he has been declared a non-runner at Doncaster twice, but should he take to the task in Lincolnshire he is served by more experience than most of his rivals. In the First Past The Post At Copybet Maiden Hurdle there is another live chance for the Fergal O'Brien team, with Plains Drifter making a strong case. In December the six-year-old contested a similar event over the same course and distance, finishing second by three and a half lengths to Tom Lacey's Montemares. That horse subsequently went on to finish a respectable fourth in the Challow, and then stepped forward again to win the Grade Two Premier Novices' Hurdle at Kelso in very taking style next time out. Plains Drifter would go on to finish third in a Ludlow maiden on his next start, and a return to Market Rasen could just bring about the right conditions to for him to get his head in front for the first time in his career.
