Queenstown can prove fit for a king on Town Moor

By Nick Grant, Press Association Sport

Queenstown can position himself as a serious back-up to Gold Cup-winning stablemate Scandinavia with victory in the Betfred Howard Wright Doncaster Cup. The Galileo gelding returned from 300 days off the track to beat Royal Ascot winner Kizlyar in the Group Three Irish St Leger Trial at the Curragh last month. That was his first run since finishing second in the Prix Royal-Oak in October and before that he was third to Caballo De Mar in the Cadran on Arc weekend. His form definitely bears pretty close inspection, as he was also third in last year's Ebor and twice runner-up to former staying king Kyrios in 2024, and he is proven on ground with ease in it. The George Scott-trained Caballo De Mar lines up against him, but he has questions to answer now after disappointing experiences at Ascot and York, having a particularly tough day at the Royal meeting. A dark horse is Winday, representing Emmet Mullins and owner Paul Byrne. He was a ready winner at Ffos Las when last seen, having rejoined Mullins after a spell over hurdles in France. Final Objective is a major fancy for Hamad Al Jehani in the Carlsberg Danish Pilsner Flying Childers Stakes. The Wathan Racing-owned juvenile ran an huge race to be narrowly beaten by the top-notch Arapaho Gold in the Gimcrack at York when last seen, which represented a career best. Gelded after finishing a far-from-disgraced seventh in the Coventry Stakes, he enjoyed a confidence-boosting win at Thirsk prior to his effort on the Knavesmire, where he handled the rain-softened ground with some aplomb. A strong mover, this will be his first try at the minimum trip but there is no reason it will be a hindrance, and neither will the ground. There might be a swift double to be had for Wathnan, with the rapidly-improving Silver Lake going for a four-timer in the British Stallion Studs EBF Premier Fillies' Handicap. Going up in distance has very much been the making of the William Haggas-trained three-year-old and while this will be the furthest she has gone so far, the way she won at York suggests she will not be beaten for trip. Any number of exciting types feature in the Listed Betfred Flying Scotsman Stakes, with the vote going to Rock Montreal. Having cost 1,000,000gns as a yearling, Roger Varian and Godolphin will rightly have high hopes and the son of Blue Point did exactly what connections wanted to see at Yarmouth on his introduction. The invariably measured Varian spoke quite highly of him afterwards and it is likely to be the Dewhurst next if all goes to plan. Victoria Night ran first time like she would win races and she can duly get off the mark in the Coopers Marquees EBF Maiden Fillies' Stakes. Richard Hannon's charge only just failed to gather in the vastly more experienced Tall Trees at Sandown and normal improvement from that must mean she sets a good standard.
