WOLVERHAMPTON:

A low draw is a big advantage over 5f20yds and 5f216yds, and low to middle is preferable over 7f32yds. Beyond that is doesn't seem to matter, although it is never a good idea to race too wide on the home bend, as those that do rarely seem to make up the ground.

STREETS AHEAD AT WOLVERHAMPTON

By Ashley Iveson, Press Association Sport

James Street can open his account for 2019 in the Betway Heed Your Hunch Handicap at Wolverhampton.

Hugo Palmer's colt won successive races on turf at Doncaster and Nottingham last summer to earn himself a shot at the Acomb Stakes at York.

That Group Three contest proved too much too soon for the son of Gale Force Ten, but he seemingly suffered no lasting damage as he performed admirably on each of his three subsequent starts on the all-weather.

His first outing on artificial surface was a winning one as he made all the running at Kempton in early December - and he only narrowly failed to follow up in a stronger race over the same course and distance shortly after the turn of the year, going down by a short head to No Nonsense.

It is perhaps a shade disappointing that the horse who finished sixth that day - Mark Johnston's Deep Intrigue - emphatically reversed that form when winning at Lingfield a couple of weeks later, with James Street once again having to make do with the runner-up spot.

Palmer's charge just looked to lack a yard of pace on that occasion - and with the more testing nature of Dunstall Park likely to see him in a better light,James Street should make his presence felt.

Union Rose can secure his second course-and-distance success in the space of a fortnight in the Betway Sprint Handicap.

The Ron Harris-trained gelding was rated in the 90s a couple of years ago, but a largely disappointing run of form saw his mark fall to just 70 before his latest assignment.

The seven-year-old made the most of the opportunity, winning with something to spare.He is clearly a little hit and miss, but a 4lb hike is far from insurmountable if he is in the same mood.

Indeed, Union Rose was 7lb higher than he is now when winning here little over a year ago.

American Graffiti shaped with abundant promise on his racecourse debut and is difficult to oppose in the concluding Ladbrokes Home Of The Odds Boost Novice Stakes.

Charlie Appleby's well-bred three-year-old was a 10-1 shot for his introduction at Chelmsford less than three weeks ago, suggesting he had not been burning up the Newmarket gallops.

However, he outran those odds with a fine effort to finish second behind a previous winner in Themaxwecan and ahead of another - in hot favourite New King.

With that experience under his belt, American Graffiti should go one better. Takingrisks may be the safest selection in a competitive field of nine for the Watch Sky Sports Racing On Virgin 535 Handicap Chase at Newcastle.

Nicky Richards continues to have his string in flying form, and Takingrisks has acquitted himself especially well of late in good handicaps.

This is a step back in class for the 10-year-old from the Grade Three Rowland Meyrick at Wetherby on Boxing Day when he stayed on notably well behind Grand National hope Lake View Lad.
