NO DRAMA IN WINTER NOVICES' HURDLE FOR NICHOLLS

By Anita Chambers, Press Association

All eyes will be on No Drama This End as he bids for a second Grade Two victory in the Betfair Winter Novices' Hurdle at Sandown. Trainer Paul Nicholls and part-owner Max McNeill have made no secret of the regard in which they hold the five-year-old, who was a #160,000 purchase in March 2024 after winning a point-to-point by 23 lengths the previous month. No Drama This End won one of his two bumper starts, coming unstuck in the Champion Bumper at Cheltenham, but there could be no arguing with the promise of his initial hurdles spin as he delivered a three-length win back at Cheltenham in what appeared a pretty strong event.

He barely put a foot wrong that day and seemed to have plenty left in the locker, so even though he must shoulder a penalty for that graded win here, No Drama This End still looks a worthy favourite. Jamie Snowden's string has been in excellent form of late and Laurens Bay can build on a debut win over fences in the Betfair Esher Novices' Chase. He proved smart enough over hurdles last term, with his campaign culminating with victory in the EBF Final at Sandown in March, showing plenty of heart for a battle in triumphing by a neck. Laurens Bay then made his first chasing start at Uttoxeter in October, winning by seven lengths in a two-runner affair with the victory less about the merit of the form than the style of his win, in which his jumping really impressed. This is obviously a leap up in calibre again but the move up to three miles that day appeared to firmly suit and Laurens Bay can confirm that opinion here. Joyeuse should be given another chance to shine in the JCB Hydrogen 'Chasing Excellence' Beginners' Chase at Exeter.

She has some really decent hurdles form in the book, not least when winning the ultra-competitive William Hill Hurdle at Newbury back in February, prompting Nicky Henderson to supplement her for the Mares' Hurdle at Cheltenham. That Grade One assignment proved beyond her and a subsequent run at Fairyhouse was possibly just a step too far, coming home a lack lustre ninth. Her initial chase run was a stiff test too, pitched straight into Listed company and coming home a 19-length second in a race that was totally dominated by the winner, Diva Luna. Joyeuse just possibly needed the run that day and can hopefully take full advantage of her mares allowance. No More Bolero will likely be a short price in the BetWright Safer Gambling Handicap Hurdle at Sedgefield. James Owen's charge turns out quickly after winning at Ludlow just under two weeks ago and is technically 8lb well in here, even with his winner's penalty. Midnight Lion can add to his seven previous Newcastle wins in the Win #250,000 With Betmgm's Golden Goals Handicap. A winner over a mile and six furlongs back in 2023, he has proved equally as effective at shorter distances too, twice winning over seven furlongs this year, including last time out at this venue.
