MAI MAKES SENSE IN BETFAIR CHASE

By Chris Wilson, Press Association Sport

Bristol De Mai can cash in on Sizing John's absence by winning the Betfair Chase at Haydock.

Even if the reigning Gold Cup hero had taken his chance on Merseyside, the six-year-old grey would still have had stacks in his favour.

And now the road is seemingly clear for Bristol De Mai to carry all before him.

Trainer Nigel Twiston-Davies will have the likeable chaser trained to the minute for this valuable Grade One, not least because he has already had a run this autumn.

That came at Wetherby earlier in the month, when he showed tenacity and class to defeat stablemate Blaklion, to whom he was giving 6lb, by half a length in the Charlie Hall Chase.

Haydock is also an especially happy hunting ground for Bristol De Mai, who produced one of the most accomplished performances of last season when he won the Peter Marsh Chase by 32 lengths.

Just as importantly, though, is the fact he loves running in testing conditions, which was the reason Sizing John has not travelled over from Ireland.

With three-time winner Cue Card possibly up against it in the twilight of his career and Outlander an awfully difficult horse to pin down, everything points towards a convincing Bristol De Mai victory.

Le Rocher might be a value call in the Grade Three Betfair Stayers' Handicap Hurdle.

The Grade One-winning seven-year-old has plenty of good form in heavy ground and should be a lot fitter than he was in the Silver Trophy at Chepstow last month.

Le Rocher has only raced 11 times in his career so he still has the scope to kick on this winter.

If he gets this longer trip, which is a distinct possibility, Nick Williams' representative could be reasonably treated in the weights as his jockey also takes off a handy 3lb.

Josses Hill might catch them napping on his return to action at Ascot.

Nicky Henderson's nine-year-old must defy a 210-day absence in the Christy 1965 Chase, but he is a top operator on his day and has gone well fresh in the past.

He never looked quite right last season, albeit in good company, but Henderson will have been working hard with him behind the scenes and is keener than most to get him into a nice groove at this early stage of the season.

Patience can prove most virtuous for Defi Du Seuil, who runs in the Coral Hurdle.

Philip Hobbs decided to swerve last weekend's Greatwood Hurdle, which looks a good move as it might have been a bruising encounter in the deep Cheltenham ground.

Better conditions and a smaller field will be just what he wants to maintain a magnificent run of form that has seen him win all seven races, including the Triumph at the Cheltenham Festival, over hurdles.
