WARNING HAS WINNING LOOK

By David Clough, PA

Fair Warning has been sending out all the right signals that he can break his duck in the Ladbrokes Home Of The Odds Boost Handicap at Lingfield.

Henry Spiller's three-year-old was beaten into a two-length third as favourite over a mile at Newcastle last time.He has acquired a new jockey, in the yard's 5lb claimer Ray Dawson, for this sharper test - and a winning Lingfield debut, at his ninth career attempt, may well be in the offing.

Stable form is a marginal concern, but Fair Warning has plenty more going for him in this modest class and he has fine prospects of opening his account,having twice finished an encouraging second over this trip elsewhere.Ginger Fox has tracked down the winner's enclosure twice at Kempton, and can do so here too in the Bombardier British Hopped Amber Beer Handicap.

David Loughnane's gelding, another making his maiden trip to this corner of Surrey, was a convincing half-length winner over the same distance at the end of last month.

That was the first time Hollie Doyle had ridden him, and they team up again from just a 3lb higher mark - which should be no bar to confirming superiorityover the re-opposing De Vegas Kid, among others.

Equipped has demonstrated enough aptitude in her two starts this winter to suggest she can come good in the second division of the Betway Handicap.Mick Channon's filly shaped with encouragement in third over course and distance on the first of her two runs last month.

She then achieved a similar level at Chelmsford when much shorter in the market at the minimum trip and back up a furlong, she must be in the mix on handicap debut.The closing Ladbrokes Where The Nation Plays Handicap represents another fine opportunity for Autumn Trail.

She earned top weight here by bagging her maiden at Chelmsford two weeks ago -and with Doyle providing the assistance again, should be well capable of sustaining her progress by following up.Wolverhampton's evening card serves up several awkward conundrums.

But Noble Account has a decent chance of recording his first win at the ninth attempt - and only second on the all-weather - in the first division of the opening Play 4 To Score At Betway Handicap.

He was a gradual improver at a modest level on the turf last summer and after making a promising return over a mile at Southwell two weeks ago, a re-production in first-time cheek-pieces should put him in the frame off top weight.
