Enceladus can climb to top table and strike in St Leger

By Ashley Iveson, Press Association

Enceladus can complete his ascent to the highest level and claim Classic glory in the Betfred St Leger at Doncaster. A strong field of 11 runners is set to go to post for the Town Moor feature and many eyes will be on Aidan O'Brien's Christmas Day, who bids to become the first horse since Reference Point in 1987 to complete the Derby-Leger double. While many Epsom heroes have not tackled the extra distance at Doncaster, several have, including Christmas Day's sire Camelot - who was memorably denied the Triple Crown when denied by Encke in 2012 - and another Ballydoyle-based Derby winner in Lambourn just last year. As was the case with many of those that have come before, the suspicion is Christmas Day peaked on the first Saturday in June, whereas Enceladus remains on an upward curve. Few would have had Joseph O'Brien's colt down as a potential Classic winner when he won a Cork maiden by a head on his seasonal debut in April, but he thrived when stepped up to a mile and a half for the King George V Stakes at Royal Ascot and proved his Group class potential when following up in Goodwood's Gordon Stakes. Everything about Enceladus suggests a mile and three-quarters should be right up his street and with title-chasing Billy Loughnane in the plate and cheek pieces applied, it would be a surprise if he is not heavily involved in the finish. Loughnane will also have high hopes of striking gold in the Betfred Champagne Stakes aboard Charlie Appleby's impressive Newmarket scorer Desert Castle, but at bigger odds the preference is for Breacher. Joint-trainer William Muir struggled to contain his enthusiasm after the Cracksman colt's winning debut at Salisbury, suggesting he compares favourably to his King George and Coronation Cup-winning former stable star Pyledriver. Breacher came up a little short when stepped up in class for Sandown's Solario Stakes a fortnight ago, but he did look a little clueless when coming under pressure and briefly looked like dropping out of the picture entirely, so it was encouraging to see him stay on at the death to be beaten just a length into third place. He should be a bit sharper for his third start and looks good value to at least hit the frame. Plenty of familiar names go to post for the Betfred Portland, in which the vote goes to David O'Meara's Toca Madera. The five-year-old bolted up from the front at this venue in June and the handicapper did not miss him, handing him an 11lb rise from 86 to 97. Results have been a little mixed since, but good efforts in competitive sprint handicaps at Goodwood and York suggest he is capable of winning again off his current mark if things fall his way. The supplemented More Thunder should prove hard to beat in the Group Two Betfred Park Stakes. The William Haggas-trained five-year-old has been knocking on the door at the top table this season, filling the runner-up spot in both the Lockinge and Queen Anne Stakes and most recently finishing a close-up fifth in the Prix Jacques le Marois. He has a little less on his plate dropping down in grade and this seven-furlong distance is probably his sweet spot. There is also top-class action on day one of the Irish Champions Festival at Leopardstown, with the Royal Bahrain Irish Champion Stakes throwing up an intriguing rematch between the Juddmonte International one-two-three - Item, Almaqam and Constitution River. With Derby-winning stablemate Lambourn expected to ensure the pace is stronger than it was at York, Constitution River can turn that form around on home soil.
