ASH WEDNESDAY POISED

FOR WOLVERHAMPTON VICTORY

By Tony Kelshaw, PA

Ash Wednesday could be worth the wait when lining up in division two of Wolverhampton's Best Odds Guaranteed At BetMGM Handicap. Heather Main's four-year-old went into many notebooks after just failing to catch Match Anthem here on Boxing Day following a troubled passage and is taken to quickly recoup those losses. Jack Mitchell had to snatch up his mount soon after leaving the stalls and then found himself in an uncomfortable position on the rails as they moved down the back stretch. Fears of getting boxed in on the turn for home materialised, with the commentator describing him as ``all dressed up with nowhere to go'' at the start of the home straight. Once switched out wide, Ash Wednesday fairly flew home, making rapid gains in the closing stages, but the line agonisingly came just too soon for his supporters. Syndicate operator Deva Racing enjoyed a real hot streak at the end of 2024 and have already hit the ground running this year, so Forever Proud is backed to maintain their momentum in the Weekly Free Bets With BetMGM Extra Handicap. James Owen's charge was twice a winner in December, most recently coming with a smooth run to prevail over this course and distance. The first three in the betting that night all played a part in the finish, which gives the form a solid feel, and despite another 4lb uplift, Forever Proud is still well below the mark he was on a couple of seasons ago. Godolphin newcomer Treasure Fleet is sure to attract plenty of attention in the Boost Your Acca At BetMGM Novice Stakes. Charlie Appleby's three-year-old changed hands for 230,000 guineas as a foal and then 800,000 as a juvenile. Although the fact that he was gelded in October is a bit of a red flag, the son of Kingman is a full brother to Group Three victor Parent's Prayer and can hopefully start to uphold family honour here. At Hereford, Getaway With You has yet to get on the scoresheet after 17 races under rules, but it could finally be his turn to shine in the Green Dragon Hotel Novices' Limited Handicap Hurdle. Late November's short-head defeat by Twp Stori at Lingfield was a decent effort and things just didn't go right when he was a beaten odds-on favourite at Market Rasen only a week later. A half-brother to three multiple winners, he has been given a nice little break over the festive period by Billy Aprahamian and can return ready to show his true form. Cobbler's Boy has several entries this week, so will presumably be forward enough to go well for Paul Nicholls in the Free Tips Daily On attheraces.com Open National Hunt Flat Race. The five-year-old was bought for #115,000 last April after finishing second in an Irish point-to-point behind Banter At The Bar, who was subsequently snapped up by JP McManus.
