BLUE IS THE COLOUR FOR YORK BACKERS

By Ashley Iveson, PA

Having come up short in the Nunthorpe last month, Azure Blue is backed to make the most of a drop in grade and a rise in distance when she returns to York for the At Tally Ho Stud Garrowby Stakes. A Group Two winner over this track and trip in the Duke of York last season, the Michael Dods-trained speedster was disappointing in the July Cup on her next start and did not run again in 2023.

She made a slow start to the current campaign, finishing down the field when defending her Duke of York crown and as a hot favourite for the Cecil Frail at Haydock on her next start, but bounced back when lunging late to dead-heat in a Listed event over five furlongs at Ayr. That victory prompted connections to shoot for Group One gold over the minimum trip on the Knavesmire little over a fortnight ago, but after racing on the speed early on she weakened out of contention, passing the post ninth of 12 runners behind the impressive Bradsell.

Azure Blue is back in Listed class for her latest assignment and with the return to six furlongs viewed as a positive, she is expected to be in the mix. Shah can make it third time lucky in the opening British European Breeders Fund Novice Stakes. The Sea The Stars colt finished a clear second behind subsequent Solario Stakes runner-up Matauri Bay on his Leicester debut and was unfortunate to bump into another high-class prospect when finishing in the same spot behind Angelo Buonarroti in the valuable Convivial Maiden at York's Ebor meeting.

A reproduction of either of those efforts should make George Boughey's youngster very hard to beat in this company under Tom Marquand. It will be interesting to see whether the Tom Clover-trained Harvard Sound can complete his hat-trick in the PJ Staffing Group Handicap. Second on his Kempton introduction in the spring, the three-year-old has since bolted up twice at Lingfield, scoring by seven and a half lengths in June before making the most of what looked a gilt edged opportunity against just a couple of rivals in July.

Harvard Sound enters the handicap arena off an initial mark of 89 at York and is clearly a horse of significant potential. The Height Of Fame is rated the best bet over the jumps at Fontwell as she looks to continue her good run of form in the Download The Racecourse App Raceday Ready Handicap Hurdle.

Keiran Burke's mare bolted up by 17 lengths on her return from seven months off the track at Newton Abbot in early July and only narrowly failed to follow up at Worcester last month, beaten just a neck. That represented a career-best effort from a seven-year-old who has won six times, including twice at this track, and another bold bid looks assured.
