NO PANIC WITH FINDING THIS NEWBURY WINNER

By Anita Chambers, Press Association

Panic Attack is a worthy favourite back at Newbury in search of a third successive win in the Ada Accountants Mares' Chase. Dan Skelton's 10-year-old enjoyed a golden couple of weeks in November, winning the Paddy Power Gold Cup at Cheltenham before successfully stepping up in distance to three and a quarter miles to fairly sprint home in the Coral Gold Cup at the Berkshire track. Having won over two and a half miles on the first occasion, there were some stamina questions to answer, but Panic Attack replied in style as she saw off Three Card Brag by six and a half lengths and sent her rating up to 147. That mark puts her 23lb clear of the next best, with a 4lb penalty hardly a factor and no worries about ground or the three-mile trip. Taita Hills takes the eye back up to just short of three miles in the DJB Cleaning Handicap Chase. He featured in a three-runner affair over two miles at Lingfield last month, lining up against fellow Gary and Josh Moore-trained runners Hansard and Officer Of State in a beginners' chase. Given he was rated 20lb below the winner Hansard, his eight-length defeat over an inadequate trip was not without promise and he should have learnt plenty for the experience. A return to front-running tactics can help Sober Glory regain the winning thread in the first division of the Boylesports Novices' Hurdle after an odds-on disappointment last time, while the second division can go the way of well-touted French recruit Fire Warning, who features in the markets for a couple of Cheltenham contests and makes his debut for Nicky Henderson. Trained in France by Hugo Merienne, Fire Warning was a winner on the Flat and took second place on his first hurdles start, so he arrives with a tall reputation for his British debut. Apollon Forlonge, who hails from the family of Asterion Forlonge, looks a horse full of potential and can build on that in the Boyle Sports Best Odds Guaranteed EBF Junior ``National Hunt'' Hurdle. Third of four on his racecourse bow, Apollon Forlonge hacked up by seven and a half lengths at Taunton a month ago and while he must shoulder a penalty for that success, Warren Greatrex's charge is going the right way. Lotus showed distinct promise first time up and better could await in the Bet #10 Get #40 With BetMGM Fillies' Novice Stakes at Lingfield. Fifth of eight at Kempton, Lotus was beaten just over four lengths after weakening a bit in the finish, but that lesson should stand her in good stead. Whenthedealinsdone should strip fitter for a recent run as he lines up in the Unibet Supports Safer Gambling Handicap at Kempton. Having his first start since September, Roger Teal's runner was three and a half lengths adrift of the winner that day and given he won off 90 in his pomp, his current perch of 74 looks workable.
