JOHNNYWHO TO MAKE CARLISLE MARK

By Nick Robson, PA

Johnnywho can come out on top in a fascinating three-runner Lakes Estates Property Sales And Lettings Novices' Chase at Carlisle. While he reached a decent level over hurdles, you always got the impression he was just marking time until sent over the larger obstacles. Trained by Jonjo O'Neill, who has been joined on the licence by his son, AJ, Johnnywho actually began his last campaign at the Cumbrian venue, winning easily. It was most unlike the former jockey to put him straight into Grade One class for his next outing but it showed the regard in which he was held. While not disgraced at all in the Challow Hurdle at Newbury, he was beaten two lengths in fourth by Captain Teague, and it was perhaps a little disappointing that he was not placed to win again last term. He was fourth to Gidleigh Park in January and then eighth in the Albert Bartlett behind Stellar Story, before finishing a fair fourth in a competitive handicap at the Grand National meeting. He simply always looked a chaser, though, and while his three rivals all bring some smart form to the table, Johnnywho is arguably the best prospect.

It is an awful long way to Carlisle from Harry Fry's Dorset yard, in fact he has only asked four to ever make the journey, but two have won. That makes Geezer Rockstar of interest in the You Can't Park There Sir Novices' Hurdle. A winner at Ascot in March, he then disappointed in the Novices' Championship Final at Sandown in April and while he had not run that often last season, he could have just been ready for a break. Fresh may be the time to catch him. Neil Mulholland has his string in absolutely red-hot form and Inoui Machin can add to the recent good run in the Eddie Mapp Memorial Novices' Limited Handicap Chase at Ludlow. A winner of four of his 10 outings already, he is still only six, so his best days should remain in front of him. He signed off over hurdles with a win at Kempton in May and starts his life chasing off a mark of 121. Three previous winners meet in the Nottingham Racecourse Firework Night 2nd Nov Novice Stakes where Love Dynasty looks the standout. Trained by William Haggas, she cost Steve Parkin's Clipper Logistics 190,000 guineas but did not make it to the track at two until November.

It was a winning debut and promised plenty for this year, but she has clearly had her issues as it is nearly a year since that run. The fact connections are persisting suggests she is well regarded. Rod Millman's Four Adaay has run consistently well all season and having been eased slightly by the handicapper, should go close in the Conference And Eventst Nottingham Racecourse Handicap. Kevin Ryan's Thecla was always doing enough at Hamilton last time out as she got off the mark at the third time of asking. She has been allotted a mark of 73 and could have gone handicapping but instead runs in the first division of the Win #1M With BetMGM's Golden Goals Novice Stakes at Southwell, where she looks of interest. Charlie Appleby's Magic Dream is given another chance in the BetMGM: It's Showtime Fillies' Novice Stakes at Wolverhampton. She made a perfectly satisfactory debut when second at Newbury in April but came home last when sent off favourite for her next outing. Off for the best part of 200 days subsequently, Magic Dream can bounce back.
