STAN'S THE MAN FOR FFOS LAS HONOURS

By Nick Robson, PA

Our Boy Stan looked a nice prospect last term and can begin his new career with a win in the Ascona Group Roadside Retail Specialists Novices' Hurdle at Ffos Las. It shows the measure of the regard in which Ben Pauling holds him that he made his racecourse debut in a Listed bumper at Cheltenham on New Year's Day - and it was almost a winning one. He showed the benefit of that outing when no making no mistake next time at Kempton and that form now looks decent. Back in second was Dan Skelton's Money garrow, who subsequently finished third on his hurdling debut in the Persian War so clearly possesses plenty of ability. In recent stable tours Pauling has talked up Our Boy Stan as potentially one of his best novice hurdlers and from one of the more powerful yards in the country, that is no idle boast. Philip Hobbs and Johnson White have made a good start to the season and Bataillon looks another sure to go well in the DragonBet The Independent Online Bookmakers Handicap Hurdle. He was owned by David Maxwell, who recently sold off his sizeable string although interestingly this one was sold privately and is now running in the colours of none other than Hobbs. That suggests he thinks the seven-year-old has untapped potential and off a mark of 102 he looks thrown in for the DragonBet The Independent Online Bookmakers Handicap Hurdle. Small fields are the order of the day at Sandown, where quick ground is still prevalent. Only two go to post for the Oddschecker Bet Builder ``Chasing Excellence'' Novices' Chase but they are both nice types. Jamie Snowden's Admiral Stewart will definitely win races over fences, but Gary and Josh Moore's Salver achieved far more over hurdles and his experience should see him prevail. Over hurdles last season he was second at the big Winter Millions meeting, third in the National Spirit and second again on the final day at Sandown, earning a lofty rating of 148. With a run under his belt the Hobbs and White-trained Into The Park could be the one in the Oddschecker Plus Subscription Conditional Jockeys' Handicap Hurdle. He was quietly fancied for a hot Ascot handicap in February but was not seen again until Uttoxeter in October when second in quite a valuable race. Beaten a neck there, he is 21lb higher but should strip fitter for the run. Another horse who can put race-fitness to good use is Mickey Bowen's Courtland in the Oddschecker Veterans' Handicap Chase. The 10-year-old has been faring well against younger rivals and only ran last weekend at Ascot when unseating just after halfway.
