WAD CAN BLOW HIS CHEPSTOW RIVALS AWAY

By Ashley Iveson, Press Association

Blow Your Wad can claim his first victory since joining Gary and Josh Moore in the Russell Property Consultants Handicap Chase at Chepstow. Formerly a high-class operator for Tom Lacey, for whom he won four times, the eight-year-old has not done much wrong in three efforts in defeat since switching yards. He faced an impossible task at the weights when third behind Jonbon in the Ascot Chase on his stable debut and he has since run two excellent races in competitive handicaps, finishing a half-length second in Newbury's Greatwood Gold Cup before placing fourth in the Ultima at the Cheltenham Festival. It is a shame he has gone up 4lb in the weights since that most recent performance, but a drop back in trip is not an inconvenience and he should be involved in the thick of the action once again. Hurricane Pat ought to make the most of having his sights lowered in the LSL Racing Horse Sales - Syndication - Leasing Novices' Hurdle. Gary and Josh Moore's charge won a bumper here last spring and has been competing at a high level since being sent jumping, winning in maiden and Listed company at Sandown before finishing a distant second behind subsequent Supreme Novices' Hurdle hero Old Park Star in the Rossington Main at Haydock. Hurricane Pat himself appeared at the Cheltenham Festival and was beaten less than seven lengths in the Turners' Novices' Hurdle over a longer trip. If he can run up to his official rating of 142 back over two miles, he should be far too good for his rivals in Monmouthshire. Kelso punters are advised to side with Feach Amach in the Let's Get Ladies Day Ready Handicap Hurdle. The six-year-old is one of several recent winners for trainer Adam Nicol and she had a bit in hand when scoring at Musselburgh a fortnight ago. She has actually won four of her eight starts for her current trainer, seeing her rating rise from a low of 83 to a current high of 107, and she may not have reached her ceiling just yet. Always A Reason has already won twice this year for Rebecca Menzies and is expected to go well again in the Join Racing TV Now Handicap Chase. The seven-year-old enjoyed successive victories at Newcastle and Catterick in January and while he was disappointing in his hat-trick bid, he bounced back with a fine effort to beat all bar Dan Skelton's Diamond Dealer here at the Go North Finals meeting. Up just 11lb for this step up to just shy of three miles, another bold bid is anticipated. The hat-trick seeking Champion Again Ole is rated the best bet on the all-weather at Chelmsford. Having shaped with promise in a couple of novice events last year, Roger Varian's inmate has looked an improved performer in handicaps since being gelded, winning at Kempton in September and Wolverhampton in early March. He is difficult to oppose as he looks to add to his tally in the Austin Super Handicap. Evening all-weather fare comes from Southwell, where Folk Pageant has to be of major interest in the Bet #10 Get #40 With BetMGM Handicap. The Masar filly was second on her Ayr debut last summer behind Half Sovereign who went on to win four of her next five starts, including a Group Three in France, and was subsequently sold for E2.6million. Folk Pageant went one better on her return from eight months off the track with front-running victory at Lingfield four weeks ago and she now enters the handicap arena with what looks a very workable mark of 72.
