BRAZILIAN BELLE TO COME GOOD AT CATTERICK

By Nick Robson, PA

Brazilian Belle can build on her promising reappearance in the Bet At RacingTV.com Handicap at Catterick. Trained by the very capable Michael Dods, he is probably a little disappointed she has not progressed as seemed likely early last season. An eyecatching debut at Thirsk was followed by her getting off the mark at Catterick before she was stepped up in class for the Hilary Needler at Beverley. She ducked right coming out of the stalls, barging into another filly, and that lit her up and she obviously burned unnecessary energy, as she went from travelling like the winner a furlong out to finding very little. Brazilian Belle came back jarred up from that but again caught the eye after a 91-day break when third at Thirsk, but she disappointed when favourite on her next start. Making her seasonal return at Doncaster, she was fourth of eight, beaten just over a length from a bad draw when she struggled to get cover and she is given one more chance to prove she can put it all together. Ed Bethell has proved himself a very capable trainer since taking over the reins from his father, James, and always comes up with several nice prospects each season. He makes shrewd purchases, usually for syndicates, that show plenty of promise and are then sold on, just like his latest project, Paborus, who will run for Wathnan Racing when next seen. Another who could fit that bill is Surprised, who runs in the Racing Welfare Supporting Mental Health Awareness Restricted Novice Stakes. The three-year-old filly by Ulysses shaped better than the finishing position suggested on debut before having no trouble next time out, beating a couple of fillies with ratings in the mid-70s comfortably. Even with a penalty, she sets a pretty decent standard in this grade. William Knight's Regal Envoy was a good winner at Newmarket recently and a 4lb rise might not stop him following up in the Fitzdares Sprint Series Handicap at Windsor. The six-year-old had the benefit of a run, having been fourth at Bath, but beat some solid yardsticks fairly comfortably. He has a cracking strike-rate, having won 10 of his 34 races, and while he is off a career-high mark, sprinters do tend to mature later. Another yard in sparkling form is that of Michael Bell and his Tralee Girl seems to have been let in lightly off just 66 in the Royal Windsor Horse Show Fillies' Handicap. At first glance, winning a 12-furlong Catterick maiden might not look strong form but she did beat an Andrew Balding-trained runner who was strongly fancied. There is plenty of stamina in her pedigree, so she should continue to improve with racing. Archie Watson's Scarlet Moon has frightened off most meaningful opposition in the Free Digital Racecard At raceday-ready.com Handicap at Wolverhampton. Given his breeding, it was no surprise he showed little in three runs over a mile but upped to 12 furlongs on his handicap debut, he dead-heated off 68 at Southwell and then won by a neck at Kempton off 5lb higher. He is bidding for a hat-trick under a 6lb penalty but has been found a good opportunity. Jump racing continues at Southwell, where Dan Skelton's newcomer Queensworthy catches the eye. Second in her only point-to-point, she will not have to be top quality to win the Free Tips Daily On attheraces.com Mares' Open Maiden National Hunt Flat Race.
